HAP
Style Guide

Updated August 2023

Introduction

This manual is intended as a guide to written communications prepared for and representative of The Hospital and Healthsystem Association of Pennsylvania.

As we present our name and image to the audiences we serve and influence, consistency in our written communications supports a unified, professional approach and adds strength to our message.

If you have questions about HAP's style for written communications, please contact the Communications Department for assistance.

Table of Contents

FONT AND PUNCTUATION
- Font 2
- Bold, Italics, Underlines 2
- Bullets 3
- Commas, Colons, Periods
  - Items in a series 3
  - Spaces after a colon 3
  - Spaces after a period 4
  - Quotation mark punctuation 4
- Capitalization 4
- Hyphen, En Dash, Em Dash 5
- Hyperlinks 6

NUMBERS
- General Rules 6
- Dates and Times 7
- Money 7
- Percentages 8
- Phone Numbers 8

COMMON WORDS
- Health Care-Related 8
- Government-Related 9
- Technology-Related 10
- Preferred Words and Phrases 10
- Diversity, Equity, Inclusion 11

CORRESPONDENCE
- Staff Signatures 12
- Staff Titles 12
- HAP Memos and HAP Bulletins
  - Addressing the "To" Section 12
  - Preferred Layout—HAP Memo 13

EDUCATION, DEGREES, AND ACCREDITATIONS 13

DIRECTIONS, GEOGRAPHIC REGIONS 14

OTHER HAP PREFERENCES
- Acronyms 14–15
- Ampersand vs. And 15
- Board and Committee Names 15

CITATIONS 16

FONT AND PUNCTUATION

Font

All of HAP's general written communication should be prepared in Tahoma 11-point font. (Bulletins and memos sent from Informz should be prepared in Tahoma 14-point font and single-spaced.)

Bold, Italics, Underlines

Bold text should be used in HAP publications (bulletins, memos, alerts, comment letters, testimony, newsletters, and web materials) for headings, sub-headings, or other words used for emphasis.

Primary headings should be prepared in Tahoma 14-point, bold.

Italics can also be used to emphasize words. Italics can be used in conjunction with bold but should be used sparingly.

Publications should be referenced in italics:

- Federal Register and Pennsylvania Bulletin
- HAP Daily, HAP Update, Keystone Health Preparedness Digest
- Report titles should appear in italics
- Newspaper and magazine names (New York Times and Health Management Technology)
- HAP Memo 22-04 (When referring to a HAP memo without the number, do not put in italics or capitalize the "M" in memo)

  Example: A HAP memo was distributed about that issue.
  Example: HAP Memo 22-07 was distributed about that issue.

Note: Article titles and titles of educational events/conferences are not in italics. They should be put in quotes.

Example: In a similar study, "Where Americans Get Acute Care: Increasingly, It's Not At Their Doctor's Office," published in Health Affairs, more than one-quarter of outpatient visits for new health problems or chronic condition flare-ups were made to emergency departments.

Underlined words in HAP publications are not used for emphasis; underlining a word is reserved for clickable hyperlinks.

Bullets

Begin bulleted points without skipping a line after the sentence that sets up the bullets; bullet points should be single spaced. (Spacing may vary based on visual and spatial design.)

Punctuation at the end of each line in a series of bullets is not needed when using short, simple phrases or sentences.

Example:
You have been asked to meet with a lawmaker to share your story about a legislative issue. What do you do? Here are some tips:

- Have your story prepared before you go into the meeting
- Make sure to mention that you are a constituent or that you work in their district
- Link the issue to a real life experience
- Keep it short, but meaningful

A bulleted series containing complete thoughts, multiple sentences, or questions may require punctuation. The goal is consistency within the series:

Example:
Here are examples of legislation that passed because of constituent stories:

- Peyton's Law, passed during the summer of 2020, was named after Peyton Walker, a graduate of Trinity High School in Camp Hill, who died of sudden cardiac arrest. Her family advocated for electrocardiogram testing to screen student athletes for heart issues that may lead to sudden cardiac arrest. Senator Mike Regan, who represents that district, was a prime sponsor of the legislation.
- Senate Bill 3 passed during 2016, established the medical marijuana program in Pennsylvania. The bill's prime sponsor became a champion of the legislation after the parents of a child with epilepsy living in his district asked him to co-prime sponsor the bill.
- Timothy J. Piazza Antihazing Law passed during 2018 after Tim Piazza, a student at Penn State University, died after a fraternity pledge event. Senator Jake Corman was a prime sponsor of the legislation which increased penalties for those involved in hazing, mandates schools to have anti-hazing policies in place, and requires that students and parents have access to information about this issue.

Commas, Colons, Periods

Items in a series

Use a comma before the word "and" or "or" when there is a series of like items.

Example: The CDC has guidelines for cleaning, disinfecting, and sterilizing medical devices.
Example: Participants can reply by phone, fax, or email.

Spaces after a colon

If the colon follows a section heading at the beginning of a paragraph, HAP's style is to use two spaces after the colon. Otherwise, one space should be used after a colon.

Spaces after a period

Use only one space at the end of a sentence after a period. Do not use two spaces. Period.

Quotation mark punctuation

Punctuation marks always go within the quotation marks.

Example: Comments are due to CMS by September 17, 2021, and can be submitted electronically using the website's search feature for "1753–P."

Example: President Biden issued a sweeping executive order last week on "promoting competition in the American economy."

Example: "If not under a statewide disaster emergency, we ask that you provide us with specific recommendations so that Majority Leaders can continue our collaborative work," the letter said.

Capitalization

Words such as federal, state, department, division, board, program, section, unit, etc., should not be capitalized unless the word is part of a formal name.

Capitalize common nouns such as party, river, and street when they are part of a proper name.

Example: the Republican Party, the Susquehanna River

Lowercase directional indicators except when they refer to specific geographic regions or popularized names for those regions.

Example: Go north on Walnut Street; Southeast; Midwest.

Capitalize formal titles that come directly before a name. Lowercase formal titles that appear on their own or follow a name.

Example: Governor Wolf gave me a high-five. The governor gave me a high-five.
President Biden texted me yesterday. The president texted me yesterday.

Please note:
Always capitalize the "T" when using
The Hospital and Healthsystem Association of Pennsylvania.

Hyphen, En Dash, Em Dash

Hyphen -	En Dash –	Em Dash —

A hyphen is the shortest of the three; it is used to connect compound words.

Keyboard stroke: (-) Located on the underscore key to the right of the "0" key.

Example: low-income and pay-for-performance

A hyphen is used to join together two words to create an adjective or a noun:

Please add your name to the sign-up sheet.
Check-in is at noon.

NOT TO BE CONFUSED WITH THE VERB FORM:

Please sign up on the sheet.
We will check in at noon.

The en dash, longer than a hyphen but shorter than an em dash, is used to indicate a range of values, such as a span of time or numerical quantities.

Keyboard stroke: (–) Ctrl + minus key

Example: December 22–26, 9 a.m.–5 p.m., or ages 5–8

An em dash is the longest and indicates a break in thought, or used to separate a thought within a sentence—like a comma.

Keyboard stroke: (—) Alt + Ctrl + minus key

Example: This report should draw the attention of legislators and regulators as they examine the extent to which ambulatory surgery centers—which now far outnumber general acute care hospitals—are driving the increase in health care costs.

Hyperlinks

Embed links in text whenever possible. This includes both URLs and email addresses.

> Example: The conference brochure and registration form are available at the HAP website. For additional information about the conference, contact Marty Kenyon, member relations and education, at 717-561-5348.

ALWAYS test your hyperlinks to make sure they work.

Note: When using multiple hyperlinks in an email, be sure all links are the same color blue.

NUMBERS

General Rules

Spell out numbers one through nine and use figures for 10 and up.

> Example: City Council passed the measure after seven people spoke out against it and 10 people spoke in favor of it.

Note: An exception to this is when a number is used at the beginning of a sentence (always spell out) or when used as a percent (see Percentages section on next page).

> Example: Twelve thousand people showed up for the rally.

Note: ALWAYS use figures for

- Ages (but not for inanimate objects) | 5-year-old cat; five-year-old car
- Sums of money | 10 cents, $3
- Percent | 5 percent
- Time of day | 2 p.m.
- Addresses | 7 Walnut Street
- Years | 2022
- Days of month | May 4 (not May 4th)* ...sorry, the 4th may not be with you ☹
- Degrees of temperature | 8 degrees
- Proportions | 16 ounces
- Votes | 4–5 decision
- Scores | 6–1
- Speeds | 5 mph
- Odds and ratios | a 2–1 chance
- Highways | Route 7
- Dimensions | 5 foot 3 inches, (or 5-foot-3) 2-inch pencil
- Millions, billions | 10 million people, $2 billion lawsuit

*Avoid using superscript letters after numbers such as 3rd, 4th, etc. Instead, spell out the word (third, fourth) unless it's referencing a day of the month.

Dates and Times

Note: ALL documents should include the date (month and year) during which they were prepared.

Dates

Always spell out the name of a month rather than using abbreviations.

Use a comma after the year unless it is at the end of a sentence.

> Example: This announcement is only for conferences planned to occur within the date range of May 1, 2009, through September 30, 2010.

Always use an en dash between years.

> Example: The fiscal year 2009–2010 state budget included $1.7 million in funds for hospital-based health clinics.

Time

When an event begins on the hour, minutes should not be referenced.

> Example: Use 5 p.m. not 5:00 p.m.

Reference minutes only when they are needed.

> Example: The meeting will begin at 12:30 p.m. and end at 5 p.m.

Always use periods when referring to "a.m." and "p.m."

Note: Use either 12 p.m. or noon, but not both in a sentence.

> Example: The meeting starts at noon. OR…
> The meeting starts at 12 p.m.

Money

When referring to an even dollar figure, a period and two zeroes should not be used.

> Example: The virtual conference will incorporate many components of the in-person event for the low member rate of $99.

For amounts in the millions and billions that do not require a precise figure, use decimals up to two places.

> Example: The amount was nearly double the $2.25 million originally requested.

Percentages

Always use the figure followed by the word "percent."

Example: Nursing staff received a 10 percent increase in pay.

Note: An exception to this rule is when percents are used in parentheses or in a grouping in a table or chart.

Example: More than half (56%) of the respondents said they preferred the service.

Phone Numbers

Place parentheses around the area code.

Example: (717) 564-9200

For toll-free numbers:
The "1" before the "800" is not needed.

Example: (800) 633-4227

Plural Numbers

Add an "s" but no apostrophe to a number to make it plural.

Examples: 7s, the 1970s, the '80s

COMMON WORDS

Health Care-Related

The following words should appear as listed below:

- APR-DRG
- bylaws
- case-mix
- Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services
- copayments
- cosponsor
- freestanding
- front-line (adj.)/front line (n.)
- fundraising, fundraiser, fundraiser
- health care (Exception: if used as one word in the name of an organization or otherwise noted)
- healthcare-associated infections
- health system (Exception: if used as one word in the name of an organization, such as HAP)
- high-quality
- home care
- inpatient
- long-term care
- market basket update
- payor
- policymaker
- post-acute
- rulemaking
- statewide
- task force
- The Hospital and Healthsystem Association of Pennsylvania
- The Joint Commission
- timeline
- timetable
- time frame
- toolkit
- website, web page
- workforce
- workgroup

Government-Related

Please see capitalization section above for specific rules.

- State House or State Capitol (when used as a proper noun or a name)
- General Assembly
- Congress
- House or Senate
- Constitution (referring to the U.S. Constitution)
- Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (commonwealth used alone is not capitalized)
- Wolf administration (capitalize the "W" but not the "a")

Capitalize formal titles that come directly before a name.
Lowercase formal titles that appear on their own or follow a name:

Examples:

- Governor
- President
- Insurance Commissioner
- Secretary
- Representative(s)
- Senator(s)

Senators' and representatives' names should appear with their political party initial and the area they serve in parentheses. A middle initial included with their names is not needed.

Example: Senator Braun (R-Indiana)

- For U.S. senators, include the political party and state they represent
  Example: U.S. Senator Bob Casey, Jr. (D-PA)

- For non-Pennsylvania U.S. representatives, use their political party and state
  Example: U.S. Representative Byron Donalds (R-FL)

- For Pennsylvania U.S. representatives, use their political party and district number
  Example: U.S. Representative Susan Wild (D-7)

- For state senators and representatives, use their political party and county
  Examples: Senator Lisa Baker (R-Luzerne)
  Representative Frank Burns (D-Cambria)

Technology-Related

The following words should appear as listed below:

- cybersecurity
- cyberattack
- email
- database
- Internet (Capitalize the "I" when referring to the Internet itself, lower case the "i" in other uses, such as internet-based database.)
- listserv
- PowerPoint
- web page
- website

Embed links in the applicable text, including email addresses. (See Hyperlinks section.)

Example: Please visit the HAP website.

When sending a letter or including a web address in a graphic or flyer where one cannot click on a link, use clean text with no underline.

Example: Please visit haponline.org for more information.

When referring to information or a resource available online, use "at" when naming the location/website.

Example: The most recent report is available at the CMS website.

Preferred Words and Phrases

- Use "telehealth" not "telemedicine" except where the term is referenced in legislative language
- Use "value-based payment" not "value-based purchasing"
- Use "payment" not "reimbursements"
- Use "cuts" not "reductions"
- Use "investor-owned" not "for-profit"
- Use the words "final rule" and "proposed rule" together

Example: CMS issued the inpatient prospective payment system proposed rule.
NOT: CMS issued the proposed inpatient prospective payment system rule.

Try to avoid clichés and idioms in writing. Some examples include:

- deep dive
- in the weeds
- at the end of the day

Diversity, Equity, Inclusion

HAP recognizes that the words we use play a powerful role in reinforcing or dismantling systemic oppression and privilege. Our word choices can promote an inclusive culture; but, they can also maintain harmful prejudices and further marginalize communities.

Throughout all communications, it is important to be thoughtful and intentional about making word choices that align with HAP's goals of promoting diversity, equity, and inclusion. This is especially true when communicating about culturally sensitive topics such as race and ethnicity, sexual orientation and gender diversity, disability, religion, age, socioeconomic status, and chronic health conditions. However, using inclusive language should be a focus for any communication.

The following guidelines and resources are intended to help facilitate the use of inclusive language in HAP communications.

Use person-first language that focuses on the individual rather than an identity characteristic.

> Example: Say "a person who uses a wheelchair" instead of describing someone as "wheelchair-bound."

Avoid gender-specific terms (such as he, she, him, her) when referring to people in general rather than a particular person, as well as gender modifiers (such as "male nurse" or "female doctor"). Note that terms that include both male and female pronouns such as "he or she" or "him or her" are not inclusive as they reinforce binary gender roles.

> Example: "Nurses draw on their clinical training to care for patients" is more inclusive than "a nurse draws on her clinical training to care for patients."

Be cognizant of language that establishes one group of people as "normal" and people who are not members of that group as "other."

> Example: Referring to someone who is not white as "a minority" establishes white people as the norm and everyone else as other. Instead, be specific, i.e. "He is Black," "She is Chinese American."

> Example: Using labels such as "lesbian couple" or "gay marriage" when the orientation of the people in the relationship is not relevant normalizes straight relationships.

Helpful resources for inclusive communication:

- American Psychological Association – Inclusive Language Guide: Comprehensive guide to using inclusive language and communicating about identity-related topics
- Associated Press Stylebook – race-related coverage: Guide to communicating about race-related topics, including preferred terms and those to avoid
- GLAAD Media Reference Guide: Resources for communicating about sexual orientation and gender diversity
- National Center on Disability and Journalism – Disability Language Style Guide: Resources for communicating about disability
- Advancing Health Equity: A Guide to Language, Narrative and Concepts: AMA guide for physicians/health care professionals with ideas for centering equity in communication

CORRESPONDENCE

Staff Signatures

Signatures that appear at the end of a letter should include the staff name and title, capitalizing only the first letter of each as follows:

Sincerely,

Laura Stevens Kent
Senior Vice President, Advocacy and External Affairs

Please note the staff signature block as presented by the communications department is not a suggested signature, but is an association-wide template that all staff are expected to use for email communications.

If any staff would like to include personal pronouns as part of their signature, those can be added in parentheses directly after the name.

Example: Laura Stevens Kent (she/her/hers)

Staff Titles

Staff titles when referred to in correspondence should appear in lower case.

Example: Questions about this issue should be directed to Laura Stevens Kent, senior vice president, advocacy and external affairs.

Staff titles that appear immediately prior to the name should be capitalized.

Example: HAP President and CEO Nicole Stallings will speak at the event.

HAP Memos and HAP Bulletins

Addressing the "To" Section

When addressing the "To" section of a memo or bulletin, please list all titles (roles) of individuals to which the memo or bulletin will be sent in alphabetical order after Chief Executive Officers (if applicable), and before "…of HAP Member Hospitals and Health Systems."

Example:

TO: Chief Executive Officers
Chief Medical Officers
Chief Nursing Officers
Public Relations Directors

Always use two spaces after a colon for the different title sections.

Example:

For More Information: If you have any questions about this issue, contact Laura Stevens Kent, senior vice president, advocacy and external affairs, or Liam Migdail, director, media relations.

In a sentence, only use one space after a colon.

Example: DPW expressed an interest in collaborating with the hospital community for the following programs: Medicaid Bundled Payment, Medicaid Global Payment, and Pediatric Accountable Care Organization.

Use "c:" at the end of a memo to indicate a copy. HAP style is to no longer use "cc."

HAP Memos—ONLY COME FROM NICOLE

Top left below header: (22 indicates year; XX is the number that follows the last memo sent)
HAP Memo 22-XX
September 20, 2022

Immediately following the heading portion of a HAP memo (TO, FROM, SUBJECT) a bolded section heading should be used that summarizes the memo's contents and the member request:

Issue: HAP is launching a workforce survey to identify nurse and allied health professional staffing and recruitment needs to support HAP's workforce advocacy efforts.

Member Action: We ask you to coordinate the completion of this survey with your human resource professionals by November 24, 2021.

HAP memos, whenever possible, should be kept to a single page.

EDUCATION, DEGREES, AND ACCREDITATIONS

If mention of educational degrees is necessary to establish someone's credentials, spell out the name of the degree in lowercase.

Example: Rob Shipp received his doctorate in administration and leadership studies from Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Note: Use an apostrophe in associate's, bachelor's, and master's degree.

When someone has degrees or multiple accreditations with his or her name, HAP's style is to use abbreviations without periods that are separated by commas.

Example: Kim McCoy, CEBS, MBA, SHRM-SCP, SPHR, is director of human resource services at The Hospital and Healthsystem Association of Pennsylvania.

Note: When using a courtesy title for an academic degree, it should not be followed with the abbreviation for the degree in the same reference:

Correct: Dr. Sushma Sharma, a scientist. OR: Sushma Sharma, PhD.
Incorrect: Dr. Sushma Sharma, PhD.

DIRECTIONS, GEOGRAPHIC REGIONS

Directions

Directions should be lowercase when they only indicate direction or general location.

Example: Go west on Route 30, and then north on Route 15.

Geographic Regions

When referring to the proper name of a region of the United States, always capitalize the name.

Example: the South, Northeast, West Coast, etc.

Note: If you are referring to a general region of the United States, then lowercase the region.

Example: southeastern, northwestern United States, etc.

When referring to a geographic region of Pennsylvania, always lowercase the name.

Example: southeastern, central, or southwest Pennsylvania, etc.

OTHER HAP PREFERENCES

Acronyms

(A complete list of acronyms used by HAP can be found here.)

Use acronyms sparingly. When referenced, they should be first spelled out and immediately followed by the acronym in parentheses.*

Example: The Department of Public Welfare (DPW) issued a meeting notice today. According to DPW, the meeting will be open to the public.

Note: Sometimes the spelled out version of the acronym may be plural. In this case, do not add an "s" to the acronym in parentheses.

Example: The proposed regulations will affect critical access hospitals (CAH).
Not (CAHs)

Example: HAP issued a frequently asked questions (FAQ) document. Not (FAQs)

Whenever possible, avoid using two or more acronyms side by side.

*Some acronyms are so familiar we can assume readers recognize them and so do not need to spell them out: AIDS, Unicef, HIV, COVID, etc.

For these nationally recognized acronyms, it is acceptable on first reference in member distributions to use without spelling out:

- FDA
- CDC
- CMS
- ICU/NICU
- IKEA (it could show up, folks, you never know)

Ampersand vs. And

Always use the word "and" instead of the ampersand symbol. An exception to this is when the ampersand is part of an organization's name.

Example: The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services issued final regulations regarding ambulatory services and the physician fee schedule.

Please spell out the "and" in HAP's name, as well as "Pennsylvania"

Example: The Hospital and Healthsystem Association of Pennsylvania

Boards and Committee Names

Capitalize the name of a board or committee and use lowercase when referring to the board or committee in general terms.

Example: The Pennsylvania State Board of Nursing issued proposed regulations. Some of the changes being proposed by the board include...

Example: The HAP Board of Directors met yesterday for an emergency meeting. After a lengthy discussion, the board voted unanimously that HAP staff could have off for the entire month of December.

CITATIONS

What to cite?

CRRAAPP Test

- Currency (timeliness)
- Relevance (right metric?)
- Reliability (trustworthy/credible)
  - Credibility comes from
    - Original research or data
    - Facts, not opinions about facts
    - Interpretation of data by subject matter experts
  - Credible sources (i.e., government agencies)
    - Population data from census
    - Medicaid data from CMS
    - Pennsylvania hospital financial data from PHC4
    - Peer-reviewed journal articles
  - Non-credible sources
    - Vendors whose "research" is actually marketing collateral (Please note that citing vendors means that HAP is endorsing them.)
    - Organizations trying to sell us or our audience something
    - Non-subject matter opinions or interpretations of facts
    - Data purporting to be "objective" but collected and published by advocates
    - News stories about original sources—better to quote original sources
- Authority (Are we citing the experts?)
- Audience (Is this written for CEOs, clinicians, lawmakers?)
- Purpose/Point of View (What is their angle?)

How to cite?

HAP uses a modified Chicago Manual of Style and its Notes-Bibliography (NB) System for documenting sources, where sources are cited within numbered footnotes (appears at the foot of the page) or endnotes (appears at the end of the document). Below are the basic principles for citing different sources and examples.[1,2]

Basic citation principles:

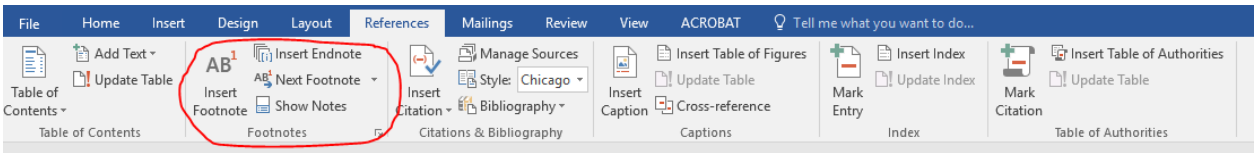
- Use footnotes to further explain information in the text; use endnotes for references. The note numbers appear at the end of the clause or sentence, but outside the punctuation:

[1] "General Format." Purdue Writing OWL. Last accessed 9/6/2019.
[2] "Notes and Bibliography: Sample Citations," The Chicago Manual of Style Online, accessed September 6, 2019, https://www.chicagomanualofstyle.org/tools_citationguide/citation-guide-1.html.

- Here is an example of the proper place for a footnote.[1]
- We found this,[1] that,[2] and the other.[3] (If in a series, it goes outside the comma.)

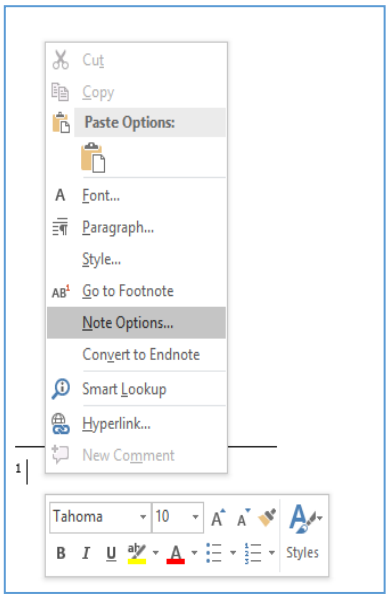
- Footnote or endnote numbers should start with "1" and follow consecutively throughout the document. However, if you are using both footnotes and endnotes, use symbols for footnotes. Best approach is to use the Word functionality to create footnotes or endnotes:

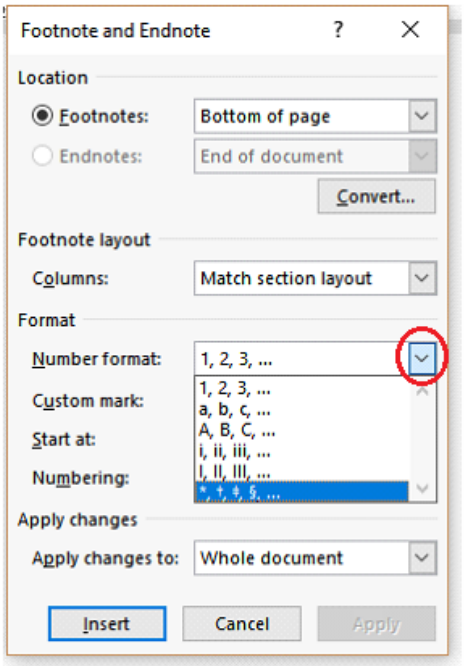
1. Click on the "References" tab

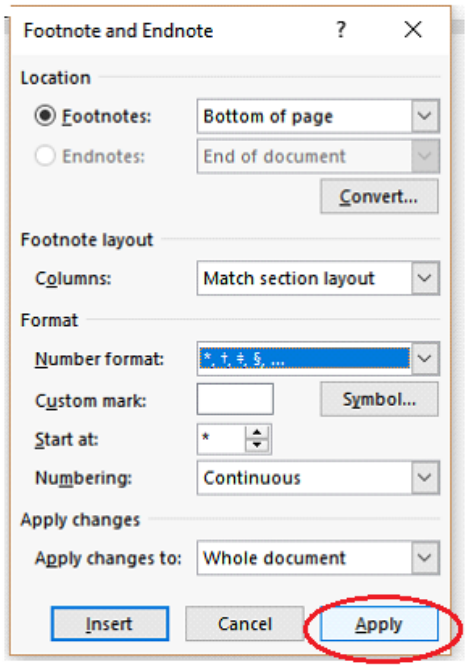


2. Click on "Insert Footnote" to add a footnote at the bottom of the page. It defaults to numbers rather than symbols. If you are using both endnotes and footnotes, switch the default to symbols.

You can do this by right clicking on the footnote, which brings up the image to the right. Click on "Note Options…"
This will give you the box below. Select "Number format" and change to symbols, then click "Apply."

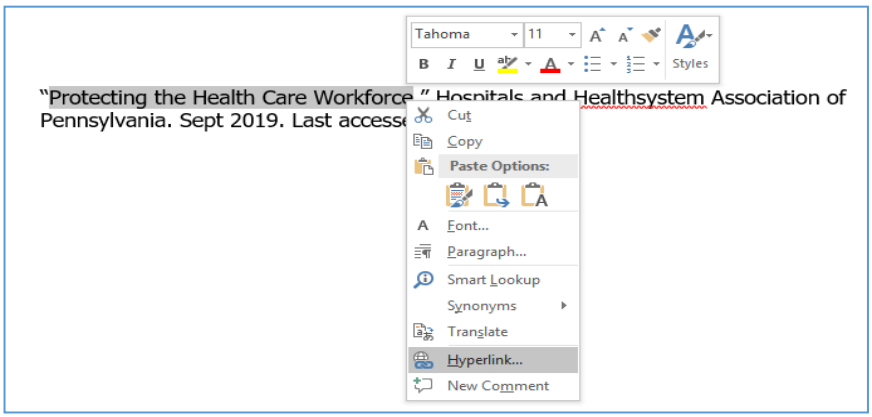




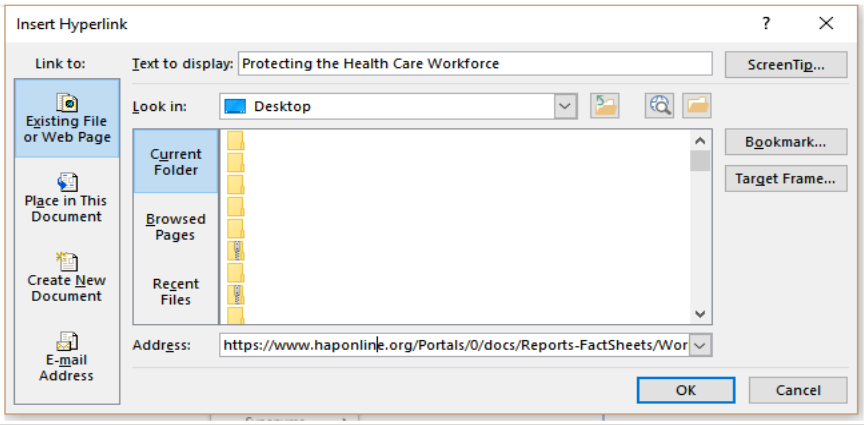


- A footnote or an endnote generally lists the author, title, and facts of publication, in that order. These elements are separated by periods.
    - List authors, if available, as <Last name, First_initial.>, and if the document has multiple authors, skip the comma between last and first names and instead separate multiple authors with commas (e.g., "Carter A., Latin-True T., Bechtel J., Tyler H.") For long lists of authors, if you want to conserve space, you can list just the first three and then "et al."
    - Titles of larger works (e.g., books and journals) are italicized; titles of smaller works (e.g., chapters, articles) or unpublished works are enclosed in quotation marks.
    - Hypertext: In most cases, if there is a hyperlink for the document, you can hyperlink it to the title. For example, here is a citation for a HAPfact sheet:

[1] "Protecting the Health Care Workforce." Fact Sheet. The Hospital and Healthsystem Association of Pennsylvania. Sept 2019. Last accessed 9/11/2019. You can hyperlink by highlighting and right clicking on the title…



Then type in the hyperlink into the "address" field… and click "OK"



- Pamphlets, corporate reports, brochures, and other freestanding publications are treated essentially as books.

- If citing the same source for two footnotes in a row, use a shortened form of the citation (i.e., "Ibid."). If repeating a footnote that appeared earlier in the document, you can include the author and year (e.g., "Smith A., 2019"), or title and year (e.g., "Economic Impact on Pennsylvania Hospitals. 2019.")

Further Examples:

Source	Notes	Shortened notes
Book	1. Smith, Z. Swing Time (New York: Penguin Press, 2016). Pp. 315–16.	2. Smith. Swing Time, 320.
Journal article	3. Keng S.H., Lin C.H, and Orazem P.F. "Expanding College Access in Taiwan, 1978–2014: Effects on Graduate Quality and Income Inequality." Journal of Human Capital 11, no. 1 (Spring 2017): 9–10.	4. Keng S.H. et al. "Expanding College Access." 23.
News or magazine article	5. Manjoo F. "Snap Makes a Bet on the Cultural Supremacy of the Camera." New York Times. March 8, 2017. Last accessed 9/1/2019.	6. Manjoo, "Snap."
Website content (with date)	7. "Privacy Policy, Privacy & Terms." Google. Last modified 4/17/2017.	8. Google, "Privacy Policy."
Website content (without date)	9. "About Yale: Yale Facts." Yale University. Last accessed 5/1/2017.	10. "Yale Facts."
Reports	11. McDonald's Corporation. 2014 Annual Report. March 2015. Last accessed 6/2/2014.	12. McDonald's, 23.

If the HAP Style Guide has not answered your writing questions, please refer to AP Style or contact the Communications Department.